Why attend EPS in Kiel?

- Live and study in a famous maritime university city - with access to the Baltic and North Seas
- Become acquainted with (north) Germany: its culture, people, and many varied natural environments
- Participate in various excursions, educational visits and cultural activities, offered by the International Office and university faculties.

Who can apply?

The EPS programme is open to all third year students who have a good working knowledge of English enabling them to participate effectively in and contribute to project teamwork and to follow lectures. Applications are welcome from the full range of disciplines.

Only offered in the summer term!

What we offer:

The Kiel EPS programme starts with a series of lessons and tutorials covering hard and soft skills, subject and project related topics, followed by a three-month project. Tutorials continue throughout the semester, and each team is provided with a student, academic and business mentor/coach.
